Message from Chairman

会长寄语

Dear Members and Friends,

It is my pleasure to take this opportunity to reflect on our organization’s peaks and troughs of the past year. Looking back, 2022 engulfed us with nothing short of extreme volatility, uncertainties and complex challenges. However, we persevered, adapted and overcame the many obstacles put before us. As I reflect on the achievements, creativity and collaboration between CGCC and our members, it is thanks to your staunch support that CGCC has transformed into the largest non-profit organization, connecting both American and Chinese enterprises in the U.S. Creating value, generating economic growth and jobs, and enhancing cooperation has been our mission from the very beginning.

Throughout 2022, we hosted numerous virtual and in-person events that engaged hundreds and provided new perspectives. We worked closely with our member companies and outside stakeholders, both the public and private, to conduct a wealth of research and explore best practices in adapting to new market demands, trends and policies.

And finally, we have spent countless hours focusing on enhancing a diversity of partnerships with government agencies and local charity groups to support businesses, communities and advance cultural and social exchange at the local and national levels. During unprecedented times, it takes stronger alliances and closer cooperation among our organizations to help any U.S. and Chinese business better understand, engage with, and contribute to some of the most critical issues.

None of these could have been achieved without your dedicated support. We hope this publication will serve as a valuable resource and enable you to better understand CGCC’s recent contributions and efforts towards our mission.

A new year comes with new hope. CGCC looks forward to working together with all of you to build a friendly, diverse and inclusive business environment. It will not be easy and there will be some bumps along the way, but the benefits will be immense and critical to the future of the greater U.S.-Chinese business communities. I wish you and your families, colleagues, and businesses, a happy, healthy new year!

CGCC Annual Business Survey Report on Chinese Enterprises in the U.S.

美国中国总商会在美中资企业年度商业调查报告

In its ninth consecutive year, the CGCC Annual Business Survey Report on Chinese Enterprises in the U.S. details the experiences and sentiments of Chinese companies in the U.S., based on responses from 111 companies and a select number of executive interviews. In a complex, changing, and increasingly contested environment, the business operations and investments of Chinese companies in the U.S. outlined a mixed picture of slightly recovered performances and mounting uncertainties bred by the tumultuous circumstances throughout 2021.

美国中国总商会连续第九年发布《2022 年在美中资企业年度商业调查报告》。今年的报告基于 111 家回复和十余家精选的高管访谈，深度解析了中资企业在美国的经营和发展。在竞争日益激烈、复杂多变环境中，在美中资企业的运营和投资勾勒出了一幅喜忧参半的图景，2021 年的动荡局势催生了业绩略有回升和不确定性增加的情况。

2022 Survey Key Findings

1 Company performances stabilize and slowly recover from disruptions since the pandemic.

Estimated performance results for 2021 show that revenue, profitability, and Earnings Before Interest and Taxes (EBIT) margins rebounded from the last two years, as Chinese companies took profitability improvement and business growth as primary objectives.

2 Company satisfaction of the U.S. investment and business environment rebounded, but the results vary in sectors.

29% of respondents reported moderate or substantial improvement (6% in 2021 result). 24% of respondent companies made new investments in the U.S. in 2021. That number doubled results for 2020. Energy, materials, financials and IT companies indicated the highest level of satisfaction and expansion.

3 While companies continue to be optimistic about their opportunities in the U.S., that optimism is in decline.

Due to sustained trade disruptions, an increasingly uncertain regulatory environment, difficulty attracting and retaining talent, and a strained U.S.-China relationship, about half of the companies (49%) forecast an increase of revenue over the next two years, and 27% of respondents (12% in 2021 results) expect more business investments will be made in 2022. However, companies' U.S. operations face mounting pressure to sustain contributions to their global revenues and support from the parent companies.

4 Dimmed expectations of the future U.S.-China relationship.

As U.S.-China relations grow complicated, the general hostilities and antipathy towards China force Chinese companies to be challenged on various fronts in this stalemate. Only 10% of respondents see bilateral relations improving in the upcoming year, the lowest since 2018. 19% of respondents (39% in 2021 result) foresee that the U.S.-China economic and trade relations will moderately or substantially improve in 2022.

How has the compliance function staffing at your company changed over the past 12 months?

Legal and Compliance

With expanding challenges and risks over the past years, Chinese companies' compliance with U.S. law and regulations has begun to catch the attention of managers and policymakers in both countries. The 2022 survey includes the following key themes in the Legal and Compliance area:

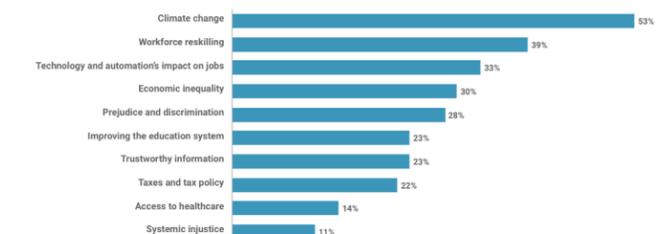

- About 80% of respondents have a general compliance policy, but some important specific compliance programs are lacking at most firms. Only 52% of the companies have internal staff handling compliance matters.
- U.S. regulators and companies' Chinese headquarters play a crucial role in the design of the compliance programs, the role of in-house compliance directors should be elevated.
- Both the compliance staff and compliance budgets increased slightly in 2021.
- Complexity of U.S. laws and regulations and potential conflicts of rules between the U.S. and China are the top challenges for Chinese firms, reflecting the growing tensions between the two countries.

Brand and Trust

In the past few years, Chinese companies have experienced elevated resistance in entering and developing the U.S. market. Defining incidents including the trade war and COVID-19 outbreak boosted anti-China sentiments and resulted in a trust crisis affecting not only Chinese businesses but the larger Asian communities in the U.S. As Chinese companies continue to invest in elevating their brands as part of a continuation of their U.S. operations, the following trends emerged in the Brand and Trust area:

- Chinese companies in the U.S. face critical challenges in brand and trust.
- Companies' brand strategies are impacted by their evolving objectives, challenges, and the structures of their functional departments.
- Companies are taking actions on societal issues to raise brand awareness and earn trust of the market, but the areas of focus are not entirely aligned with topics of concern to the U.S. public discourse.
- Chinese companies are being relatively conservative in adopting brand strategies to defend their traditional comparative advantages. This stresses the need for companies to invest in building resonating brands with compelling stories and intangible assets.

What social issues do you think your company should take actions on to best earn trust with stakeholders and build your company's brand in the U.S.?
